Even the scantiest reading of the Gospels will show that Christ was a man of faith.

His life in fact has no meaning without reference to the Father.

Often we read how at the end of a busy day he escaped to a lonely place to pray. It would be fair to say that the whole purpose of his life on earth was to worship and serve his heavenly father.

Yet from another point of view you could say that his whole life was one of total service of others.

Is there a contradiction here? No, for he spoke of two great commandments.

The first—that we should love God.

The second—that we should love our neighbour.

He did not say that they were the same thing: rather, that they are like two sides of the one coin.

If we want the total Gospel we must have both.

He himself showed us how to do this.

(Flor Mc Carthy)
