Pollution:

Misha Myr, a nine year old from El Paso, Texas, captured the detrimental effect pollution has on creation when she wrote:

I am the ill earth.

People have cut down the trees,

Which are my lungs.

They have polluted the air, which is my brain.

They have polluted the streams, which are my blood vessels.

They have polluted the oceans, which are the chambers of my heart.

My wrath has gotten gigantic. My wrath is hurricanes and tornadoes.

I am the ill earth.

If people trash me, I will die and so will they.
