Mission Sunday: We are all called to mission:

We live in an extremely unequal world where many people struggle to have their basic human rights recognised. Missionaries will often be working among the poorest peoples and in dangerous circumstances. Last year over 2 million euro was raised in Ireland on mission Sunday to support the work of missionaries abroad. But it is not all about money. There are many ways we can be in solidarity with the poor, creating awareness, examining our relationships with the environment, being conscious about what we eat/ wear and keeping ourselves informed on global issues.

We must remember that we are all called to 'mission' and this does not necessarily mean to work abroad or to only give financial support. It is not a coincidence that one of the patrons of mission is St Therese of Lisieux, even though she never left her convent. Her example shows that we are called to be missionaries in our own communities also. Then mission month of October offers everyone the chance to renew their commitment to the gospel.

Can we be missionaries to our own families and to the people around us?

'May to day there be peace within. May you trust God that you are exactly where you are meant to be. May you not forget the infinite possibilities that are born of faith. May you use those gifts that you have received, and pass on the love that has been given to you.' (St. Therese of Lisieux).

Thank you:

Again, many thanks for all your contributions in these strange and difficult times. Thank you to all the people who returned their weekly envelopes which go to support our church and parish. Also to the people who contributed to the Easter and Pentecost collections. As you know we did not send out envelopes, these collections are the source of income for the priests of the parish. We find this is dwindling very rapidly even though we took a cut in salary. If you haven't already contributed to Easter or Pentecost collections, please consider doing so.

'All Souls' Envelopes:

In the month of November we remember our loved ones who have gone to God. Mass will be offered during this month, for all our deceased family and friends. You may wish to write their names on the November prayer list. Envelopes and prayer list will be available from this weekend at the front door of the church. This list will be placed on the Altar at all Masses during November.

Wax Candles:

We have a large number of portions of used wax candles to give away. If anyone is interested in taking them to recycle, please contact any of the priests.
