The Full Picture- Holy Week

Palm Sunday is the sneak preview for Holy Week. No part is left out or missing. Jesus' triumphant entrance into the city on a borrowed donkey. A last supper with close friends. The breaking of bread and the puzzling invitation to do this in his memory. The humbling gesture of washing the feet of his followers. A garden agony, slumbering disciples, the kiss of Judas. Pontius Pilate washes his hands. 'Give us Barabbas', cry the people. The scourging and crowning with thorns. The denial of Peter. The way of the cross and crucifixion. The passion reading leaves us in a prayerful pause at the Garden Tomb. As we keep vigil this most holy of weeks, a time to ponder that there is a part for us all there. We're all capable of betraying him, we've all compromised. We all have reasons for repentance. Holy Week is time to get the full picture, not just the bits we managed to see. (Fr. Tom Cox)
